

Abei Energy

Abei Energy is a multi-national company, operational since 2005. The company has a large renewable energy portfolio in Europe and the USA.

Abei Energy in the UK consists of a team of highly experienced project developers, environmentalists, town planners, engineers and land and grid specialists. Collectively responsible for delivering renewable energy projects over the last 20 years, the Abei Energy UK team is now one of the most experienced renewable energy teams in the country.

Global offices

The Abei Energy team is committed to developing high quality projects which deliver renewable energy in combination with other site improvements, such as ecological enhancements. Public feedback is integral to designing a successful project, and the team are committed to listening to local people in advance of submitting any planning application.
